"Indian-Freedom-Cold-Storage-Brigade"

Upton Sinclair Repeats Brenden Bracken's Slogan

(FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT)
LONDON, Sept. 2.

Mr. Brenden Bracken's view on the Indian political issue has been bitterly criticised by all Indian political organisations here as also by a section of the British Press.

If India's freedom is put in cold storage, then why call this war a war for freedom and democracy, ask all British friends of India.

Mr. Edgar Snow has arrived here from India. During talks with the members of the Swarajya House. Mr. Snow blamed Mahatma Gandhi for the present state of affairs in India. He thought Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru had more western outlook.

Upton Sinclair's Officious Advice

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.

"I hope I will not seem to you a victim of imperialist propaganda, if I tell you that I think that the Indian people would be making a great mistake to seek freedom at the present time", writes Upton Sinclair, the famous American author, in a letter to the Progressive Writers' Association, Bombay.

He adds: "There is only one goal in the world worth aiming at—and that is the destruction of Axis despotism. Wise men who appreciate the urgency of the danger will put aside every desire, and every effort, which can possibly interfer with the overthrow of German, Italian and Japanese effort at world mastery.

"We in the United States learned what Japanese barbarism is, and the monstrous cruelties of which it is capable. It would do the people of India no good but, on the contrary, great deal of harm, to jump from the British frying pan into the Japanese fire—and that is surely what would happen to you if, while winning your freedom, you are to handicap the efforts of the British and American armies to get supplies to China and enable the Chinese people to preserve their independent republic. It so happens that the only way we can reach China lies through India, and every person of judgment in India will lend every help possible to that effort.

"It is my belief that after the war, it will become possible for the democratic people of the world to organise an orderly world system, and then it will be possible for new experiments in freedom and self-Government to begin with some prospect of success. It will be an enormously difficult task to set up institutions of self-Government in a land with many different languages, as you have in India. Do not make the task any harder by trying it, while Japanese barbarians are pounding at your gates".—Reuter.

"For Us Of British Commonwealth And Empire"

LONDON, Sept. 2.

Mr. Amery, Secretary of State for India and Burma has given Reuter the following message on the anniversary of the outbreak of war. "The fifth year of war opens with ever-increasing justification of the unshakable confidence which has sustained the peoples of the British Empire from the first day of the struggle. However great the effort and however bitter the sacrifices we have still to face in dealing not only with the evil forces which have threatened civilization and freedom in Europe but with the equally detestable and menacing power of aggression in the Far East, the end can no longer be in doubt. It will then be for us of the British Commonwealth and Empire whose unity saved the world in its darkest hour to strengthen that unity by our mutual co-operation in every field and so, in conjunction with the Allies who have played so valiant and decisive a part in the common cause, make our effective contribution to the future peace and welfare of mankind."—Reuter.

Move For New Danish Govt.

Three More Members Of Royal House Arrested

LONDON, Sept. 2.

Swedish planes defying a force of German warships escorted units of the Danish Navy which took refuge in Swedish ports 200 miles to the naval base of Karlskrona. German warships which were waiting to pounce on the Danish ships watched the convoy from a distance without daring to intervene, says Reuter's special correspondent in Stockholm.

NEW DANISH GOVERNMENT

The Germans are reported to be trying to form a new Danish Government as the tension in the country shows signs of subsiding but Danish circles in Stockholm believe that there is no likelihood that any member of the former Danish Government will agree to this proposal, says Reuter's special correspondent in Stockholm.

Three more members of the Danish Royal House, Princes Viggo, Gorm and Flemming are now known to have been arrested in the round up of army officers. Arrests are also reported of the Chief Rabbi of Denmark, Doctor Frienger and his son.

REDUCTION IN RICE RATION

BOMBAY, Thursday.

It is reliably learnt that the quota available in second quality rice will be reduced by fifty per cent in the near future. The number of units per person, however, remains the same, though consumers of second quality rice, will have to do with half of the rice they were getting under the rationing scheme; the balance will have to be made up, either by the purchase of superior qualities of rice, or boiled rice, or wheat or bajri.

The decision, it is understood, has become necessary owing to the stock of second quality rice running short, and the prospect of further supplies are poor.

Shyamprasad For Cabinet?

CALCUTTA, Sept. 1

There is a persistent rumour in political quarters that attempts are being made for the inclusion of Dr. Shyamprasad Mukerjee once again in the Bengal Cabinet. It is reported that Dr. Mukerjee cannot possibly join the Ministry, unless the question of Pakistan is shelved by the Cabinet, till after the termination of the war. Whether there is any truth in this report or not "Orient Press" understands that by his recent activities for the cause of suffering humanity Dr. Shyamprasad has enhanced his reputation in Bengal politics and has earned alike the gratitude of millions and appreciation of his political opponents.

The rumour that certain Hindu business magnates placed quite a large amount at the disposal of Dr. Mukerjee for relief work in Bengal and the discontent and dissatisfaction now in evidence among the supporters of the present Ministry both in and outside the Assembly for its failure to solve the food problem, are believed to be the main factors which forced the Ministers to seek shelter and safety from impending onslaughts at the hands of the members during the coming budget session, in the bosom of the Hindu Mahasabha.—Orient Press.

WARRANT OF ARREST FOR MR. HORNIMAN

Allahabad Judges Take Action In Alleged Contempt

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 2.

Their Lordships Mr. Justice Collister and Mr. Justice Allsop of the Allahabad High Court directed to-day that a warrant of arrest shall now be issued by this Court against Mr. B. G. Horniman, Editor, Printer, and Publisher of the "Bombay Sentinel" in the Contempt of Court Case against the paper.

It will be recalled that the Alleged contempt of this Court arose in regard to certain comments appearing in the said paper dated 28th April 1943 in the "Vesper Notes" column under the caption "Allahabad Courts Attitude."

JUDGES HOLD COURT HAS POWER

ALLAHABAD, (Later).

The "Bombay Sentinel" contempt of Court case came up for hearing to-day, after the Advocate General had returned from Delhi.

Their Lordships Mr. Justice Collister and Mr. Justice Allsop heard the Advocate General on the enquiries made by him with regard to the point whether this Court had jurisdiction to try Mr. B. G. Horniman, Editor, Printer and Publisher of the "Bombay Sentinel" in respect of the alleged contempt of Court committed by him.

The Advocate General was of the opinion that their Lordships had the jurisdiction so long as the person was a resident in British India and a copy of the said paper was in circulation in this province. The Advocate General also deposed in this connection that a copy of the "Bombay Sentinel" was received by the "Leader" office in ordinary exchange of the paper and that the particular copy of the "Bombay Sentinel" which contained the comments alleged to amount to contempt of Court was filed with the Registrar.

Their Lordships after having consulted the different rulings from Bombay, Calcutta High Courts cited by the Advocate General in support of his argument that the Court had jurisdiction and upon which he had relied, passed the following order:

"Respondent failed to appear in answer to the first notice that was issued to him and again failed to appear when a summons was issued, we direct that a warrant of arrest shall now be issued by this Court against him. The respondent may be released upon entering into his own recognizance in Rupees 1,000 with one surety in a like sum to appear before this Court on September 18, 1943, at 10-30 a. m."—A. P.

AFTER FOUR YEARS

On September 1, 1939, Hitler threw the gage to what are known as the Western democracies by attacking Poland the security of which had been guaranteed by Britain and France. For two days the world held its breath in suspense. On September 3, Mr. Chamberlain, followed later by the French, took up the Nazi challenge and there began the war which is now in conflagration all the world over. This is the fourth anniversary of that fateful day. Much has happened in the four years that have just passed. They have seen the war, originally more or less localised, spread till, in due course, it embraces practically the entire globe—there are only six neutrals left now—its land, its sea and its air. They have witnessed destruction and destitution unparalleled in history and dreamt only in nightmares and death in millions of as many non-combatants as combatants. Above all they have seen amazing vicissitudes in the fortunes of war. Hitler started as a victor collecting on his way accomplices like Mussolini and Tojo. He rode on the wave of triumph from conquest to conquest till it appeared that he and his Allies would sweep all.

That was a good many months ago. Now the tide of conquest has not only stopped but also turned. The details of how it happened are common knowledge. The fundamental causes, that brought it about deserve reiterated recognition: the Axis philosophy of brutal domination, the indomitable will in adversity of the common Britisher even more than of Churchill and his colleagues, the sheer heroism of Soviet Russia and the powers of recovery and mounting strength displayed by the United States. But while full praise is due to the magnificent accomplishments of the members of the anti-Hitlerite coalition and those grand peoples who crushed under the tyranny of the Nazi jackboot yet refuse to have their life, their spirit and their soul ground out of them; while tribute is due to all these, let us not forget the seniormost partner, the pioneer in the fight against Fascist aggression, China. She is observing to-day not the fifth year of war, but virtually the middle of the seventh year of a lonely struggle without which to-day might well have been different from what it is. The tide, as we say, has turned. To-day Hitler, with Mussolini already an inevitable casualty, stands facing his irrevocable doom and Tojo, too, sees it approaching. Unless the United Nations or some of them blunder with unimaginable egregiousness the war has been as good as won and victory will be theirs to-morrow; it depends entirely on the United Nations or rather America and Britain how soon to-morrow comes.

But what about the day after to-morrow? What kind of peace are they going to win for the world after Hitler and Tojo have been liquidated? Is the basic evil of which Fascism, Nazism and Jap Militarism are the extreme inhuman manifestations also to be liquidated? These questions are not academic. They have become painfully necessary and urgent because of the unmistakable tendency among British statesmen to revert to a contemplation of the old order progressively as the war situation improves. They started by talking in impassioned language of a New Democratic World Order based on justice, freedom and equality. Even then they avoided translating their talk into honest action. But now even the talk has changed. They will hold what only force majeure, injustice and exploitation of people by people has made their "own." Imperialism is to remain in peace as a result of victory in war, the imperialism of the victors. Does it occur to them that the world of to-day is different from the world of 1918 and that "subject peoples" are no more "theirs" as they were a quarter of a century ago. These are, of course, moral questions. There is also a material question which the Imperialists ought to understand and with less difficulty. Have they not yet learnt that Imperialism breeds Fascism and that it will produce more Hitlers, Mussolinis and Tojos in its own good time but in a worse form because science is rapidly increasing the inhumanity of warfare and its instruments. Compared with the last this war is a world horror. Cannot they see what the next would be if the main causes are preserved with blind success-mad zeal? Is there to be a world worth living in or is it going to be destroyed in another twenty-five years? So far the answer implied in the behaviour of the would-be victors is far from reassuring. It is depressing.

PARSI GIRL WHO WANTS TO BE CHRISTIAN

In disposing of an application made by Miss Irene Platts, a social worker, seeking Miss Dhun Minocnar Kalapesi, an intermediate student of the Sophia College, to be set at liberty, Mr. Oscar H. Brown, Chief Presidency Magistrate, Esplanade, directed, on Thursday, that the girl was free to go where she liked, but he hoped that she would consider the feelings of her parents and would go back to them.

The girl was produced in the Court, on a search warrant issued on Thursday.

Miss Kalapesi told the Court that she was aged 20. She had her early education in a convent and during the last two years, she had been attending the Sophia College. About a year ago she wanted to become a Christian, but her parents objected to her conversion. She was not allowed to contact or correspond with those who helped her to become a Christian or sympathised with her; but a lot of other people were allowed to come to her and lecture to her against conversion. She was not happy and she did not want to stay at home, unless she was allowed to become a Christian. But as soon as the parents found out that she was planning to leave them, she was removed to Poona. After two weeks' stay there she was brought back to Bombay, as it was found that she had friends there and that she had managed to get a letter through.

She stated, in reply to questions from Court, that her desire to embrace Christianity did not arise from any emotional disturbance nor from any motive to marry a person outside her religion; nor did any religious pressure or influence bear any responsibility in the formation of her present attitude on religion.

Sir Jehangir Boman-Behram who was examined at the desire of the Court stated that he resided in the same building as the girl's family, that was Merwan Mansion, Napean Sea Road. He knew that the matter was brewing since September last. He often had talks with the girl's parents and he confidently assured the Court that no hardship was exercised on the girl. The girl was as much fond of her parents as the parents were of her. She was not harnessed, assaulted in any way ill-treated and there was no hampering, in any way, of her movements. She often visited cinema shows. Wires were, however, being pulled from some direction to convert the girl.

The girl's father told the Court that he had treated his daughter with the utmost kindness. He was not a millionaire, not even a rich man; but still he gave her comforts beyond his means. When she first expressed a desire to become a Christian, he only asked her to consider her own and her sisters' future. It was also urged upon her to study her own religion and the services of a Parsi scholar were requisitioned. She was given every freedom and she was even allowed not to wear "sudreh" (sacred shirt) of the "Kosti" (the sacred girdle). She was even told that if she thought she could disregard her religious and parental authority, she was free to do so but he did not desire that she should leave him, because of his love for her.

At the outset, the girl refused to swear on her sacred book; she wanted a bible. But ultimately she was asked to depose on solemn affirmation and she did so.

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WAR

Sir Rustom Masani, Provincial Leader, National War Front, in the course of a statement says:—

To-day we enter upon the fifth year of Britain's acceptance of the Nazi War Lords' insolent challenge.

In expressing our thankfulness for what has already been accomplished by the forces of the United Nations among whom we are proud to hail the brave sons of India who have cheerfully gone to the battlefields in thousands, we send them our warmest greetings and message of good cheer. We pay also our special homage to the memory of those heroes who have laid down their lives in this struggle.

The outlook is profoundly interesting and to us in India the call of the coming future to enter into a new world as a free nation and to play our part in evolving a better order is beyond compare. May it be given to India to unite and rise to the occasion!

Who Crippled Cripps?

Churchill and Cripps, combined! How's that, please? Let us see Cripps, clever astute, experienced Cripps played into the cleverer hands of Churchill, when he did not stick to his original terms, that he would go to India only, when Linlithgow was away. For, in his own mind, he apprehended the secret opposition of the Stud-bull Champion! His prevision proved true, and so did Churchill's target hit true! Cripps returned to U. K. a political cripple, thanks to Maxwell, Linlithgow and Amery—fathered by Winnie Churchill!

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Belated And Partial

The Bombay Government have done belated and partial justice by their decision sanctioning interviews to political detenus with the members of their families. The justice is unconscionably belated because the Government have taken a year to do an act of elementary humanity. It is partial because the interviews permitted are at needlessly long intervals. It is understood that application for family maintenance either from detenus or from the members of their families are considered by the Government of Bombay and suitable allowance is granted by them in cases of real necessity. We think when persons are detained without trial, allowances should be given as a matter of course without the detenus or the members of their families being compelled to apply for them. At all events Government should publish information regarding the number of cases in which allowances have been given and the amounts sanctioned.

Vindictiveness

It is said that the decision about interviews does not apply to Gandhiji and others interned with him and to the members of the Congress Working Committee. This persistent denial of justice, whoever is responsible for it, is an act of vindictiveness not easily surpassed in the annals of constitutionally irresponsible Government. It virtually renders impossible even negotiations for a settlement. It also prevents the Congress leaders from repudiating the foul charge of pro-enemy attitude flung at them by irresponsible persons taking mean advantage of their being both imprisoned and gagged.

Wanted Explanation

"A Motorist" complains that petrol ration of some persons has been cut by the order of the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bombay, only because they had a National Flag on their cars. If the fact is as stated, the Deputy Commissioner owes an explanation. The display of the National Flag on a man's house or other private property is not yet unlawful and numerous persons are so displaying the Flag. The Police Commissioner himself issued a statement some months ago saying that flying a National Flag over a house or a car was not an offence. If he has changed his mind since then let him say so publicly.

Arrest In High Court Compound

Chief Justice Holds There Is No Contempt Of Court In Police Action

(Before the Hon'ble the Chief Justice & Mr. Justice Rajadhyaksha)

Govindlal Nathalal Parikh ..... Petitioner.

F. D. Roach, Police Inspector C.I.D., Poona ..... Opponent.

The petitioner, a post-graduate student, had been arrested at Poona on 9th December last. On 20th August last, their lordships on a "Habeas Corpus" application ordered him to be released forthwith on the ground that his detention for so many months without either a trial or an order of remand or an order under the Defence of India Rules was illegal.

The petitioner was accordingly released in the Court room in pursuance of their Lordships' order. But as he was leaving he was again arrested in the compound of the High Court under Rule 129 of the Defence of India Rules.

On behalf of the petitioner it was argued that the act of the opponent in arresting him within the precincts of the High Court practically immediately after his "notional release" was calculated to shake the confidence of the public in the administration of justice by this Court and that therefore the opponent was guilty of Contempt of Court.

The Chief Justice: "The compound of the High Court is not a sanctuary for people running away from the police."

Mr. Padhye: "But the petitioner was not running away from the police."

The Chief Justice: "If we were to hold that nobody could be arrested in the compound of the High Court look at the people who would collect here."

Delivering the judgment of the Bench, his Lordship the Chief Justice observed that their order to release the petitioner had been complied with. Unless it was shown to their Lordships that the re-arrest was merely a device for getting round their order there was no contempt at all. Their Lordships therefore, dismissed the application.

Mr. B. G. Padhye appeared for the petitioner.

Mr. C. K. Daphtary with the Government Pleader appeared for the opponent.

"No Evidence That Accused Occupied Flat"

BOMBAY, Thursday.

"It is not true that I was in the possession of the key and that I opened the lock. I do not know anything about what is alleged to have been found from the room. I deny that I was in possession of the room, I had been there to see an acquaintance".

This was the statement made today by Shashikant Kadakia, a Ph. D. student who stands charged under the Explosive Substances Act before Mr. G. A. Sabnis, Presidency Magistrate, Girgaum Court, Bombay.

The accused was arrested by the police at Krishna Niwas, Walkeshwar, on January 14 last.

Jagmohandas Ramnarayan, the rent-collector of Krishna Niwas at the time of the police raid, and now unemployed, was brought to the Court as a witness from the Harkisondas Hospital where he is being treated as a patient. He deposed that a little before the arrest of the accused he had returned to Bombay from his native place. He had been to Krishna Niwas to collect rent. He didn't know by whom the flat in question was rented. A "mali" once pointed him out the tenant of that flat, and he approached him for rent. The latter promised to pay the rent to the mali, and he did so accordingly a few days later. Since then he had never seen that man again.

A few days later, continued the witness, the police raided the flat. Thereafter he was called to the C. I. D. office where an identification parade was held. At this parade, the witness stated, a police constable caught him by the head and shook him soundly, asking him at the same time to identify a particular person. He did so accordingly.

Asked by the Magistrate to point out the person whom he had seen at the Krishna Niwas the accused looked round the Court and said that he was not to be seen there.

Mr. Vekar the police prosecutor in the course of his arguments pointed out that the evidence in the case had shown that the accused had produced a key from his pocket and opened the lock, which indicated that he was in the possession of the room, and hence responsible for the articles found from there.

The Magistrate at this stage observed that there was no evidence to indicate that the accused paid the rent at any time or occupied the flat, or visited the room prior to his arrest.

His Worship fixed September 8 for passing orders.

CENTRAL BANK WINS

(Before the Hon'ble the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Lokur and Mr. Justice Rajadhyaksha).

P. D. Shamdasani ... Applicant.

The Central Bank of India Ltd. & Others ... Opponents.

This was an application in revision from the order of Mr. V. K. Muranjan, Presidency Magistrate, acquitting the Central Bank of India Ltd., its directors, chief officers and auditors of the offence of issuing a Balance Sheet for the year ending 31st December, 1939, which was not in compliance with section 132 of the Indian Companies Act.

The petitioner contended that the notification of the Governor-General dated 16th January, 1937, modifying Form F in the third schedule to the Companies Act so as to omit in the case of banks, on the assets side of the Balance Sheet, book-debts which were bad and doubtful for which provision had been made to the satisfaction of the auditors, and on the liabilities side the provision made for such debts, was 'ultra vires.'

Sir Jamshedji Kanga argued that what section 132 required the balance sheet to contain was the real assets and the real liabilities of the bank and that under Section 151, the Governor-General had ample power to amend the Forms.

In his reply, Mr. Shamdasani contended that the officers of the Bank had only been charged with abetting the offence under section 133 (3) and that it was therefore not necessary that the default on their part should be wilful. The Chief Justice rejected this argument but on Mr. Shamdasani persisting in this line of argument His Lordship remarked that he was talking complete nonsense and was wasting the time of the Court.

Their Lordships rejected Sir Jamshedji's arguments as to the validity of the notification and held that the notification of the Governor-General was 'ultra vires' because it sought to alter the provisions of Sec. 132 which required that all book debts should be disclosed in the Balance Sheet. Their Lordships, however, stated that in respect of all balance sheets of the Bank issued till this judgment it was impossible to say that the Bank or its officers had been knowingly or wilfully party to the default. Their Lordships, therefore, did not interfere with the order of acquittal passed by the trial magistrate and ordered that the Rule be discharged.

Indigenous Vegetable Dye For Colouring Paper A New Use For Tamarind Seed

As imports of synthetic dyes have ceased, indigenous vegetable dyes which can be used for colouring paper pulp have assumed increased importance. A leaflet issued by the Forest Research Institute describes how useful dyes can be obtained from the tamarined seed, 'kamala', kino gum, catechu, and sanderwood. India has abundant supplies of these materials and it is worth noting that the kernel of the tamarind seed has been discovered to be rich in pectin. If a large-scale pectin industry is started, the dye will form a valuable by-product.

BOMBAY'S ANSWER TO PEGGING ACT

No Property Rights To S. A. Whites

The Pegging Act of South Africa against Indian residents was discussed in the Municipal Corporation on Thursday and passed unanimously. Mr. Naushir C Bharucha moved the resolution.

That the Corporation is of opinion that in view of the racial discrimination practised by the Government of the Union of South Africa in the matter of sale to and acquisition of lands by Indians within the limits of the Durban Municipal Council, the Corporation should adopt as a matter of administrative policy the principle of not conveying, transferring, leasing or otherwise disposing of any lands or immovable property vesting in the Corporation to any European national of the Union of South Africa.

That the Presiding Authority of this Meeting be requested to communicate paragraph 1 of this Resolution to other Municipal Corporation in India with a request that they may also consider the advisability of adopting similar administrative policy in connection with conveyance, transfer, lease or disposal otherwise of lands or immovable property vesting in them.

Hon. Raja Bahadur Govindlal Shivlal seconded the resolution and suggested similar restrictions on South African nationals by the Bombay Municipality.

Mr. Jamnadas Dwarkadas and Mr. A. P. Sabawala supported the resolution.

Mr. Gordhandas G. Morarji also supported the proposition which was carried unanimously.

The House then passed unanimously the resolution of Mr. Gordhandas G. Morarji to request the Municipal Commissioner to submit a draft amendment of the Municipal Act so as to provide imposition of the wheel tax in respect of all wheel tax.

Dr. J. A. Collaco presided.

OUR SELF-RESPECT DEMANDS IT

BOMBAY, Thursday.

Addressing the Maharashtra Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, the Hon. Dr. N. B. Khare, Indian Overseas Member, said that it was a matter for regret that while nationals of other countries come to India and receive all facilities for trade and exploit India without being questioned, Indian nationals are not only deprived of all trade facilities outside India but are even treated as aliens.

"I will strain every nerve" declared the Overseas Member, "to safeguard the interests of Indian nationals abroad. It is necessary that every Indian, no matter to which party he belonged, must stand for the self-respect of the Indian nation."

Referring to the measures he had undertaken as a reply to the Pegging legislation, Dr. Khare said that he had only been goaded by a sense of duty towards the nationals of India abroad. The encomiums bestowed on him were undeserved.

"I am only guided by the principle" he declared "that Indians abroad must not be allowed to be treated as sub-human. Indians need not expect to be treated as super-men. But let them, by all means, expect the treatment that is due to the human race".

Dr. Khare referred to the handicaps in the way of the Overseas Department in solving the problems of Indians abroad in a satisfactory way, under the "existing conditions."

"After all, we are being told that we cannot expect any better status for Indian nationals outside India than what we enjoy in our own country."

It was being repeatedly said, he added, that things would improve after the war But it was certain that there would not be a better world unless the human race developed godliness, unless the present beastliness which was the indirect result of scientific progress gave place to godliness.

Referring to the place of Maharashtra in trade and commerce, Dr. Khare said that it was unfortunate that Maharashtra was backward in trade It was necessary that Maharashtra should organise itself and take its proper place in the trade and commerce of the country.

Mr. M. L. Dahanukar, President of the Maharashtra Chamber, welcomed Dr. Khare earlier.

His Holiness however, has also called on warring Christendom, so to speak, to "give to all the nations a foundation of worthy peace."

INQUIRY INTO ILLICIT ACCUMULATION OF WEALTH

LONDON:—The Rome Radio reported to-day progress in the inquiry into illicit accumulation of wealth by the Fascists. Marshal Badoglio's Commission stated, according to the Radio, "particular fruitful has been the investigation into the wealth and seizure of possessions of Count Ciano in his own name and that of Edda Mussolini, his wife. Greater part of the immense patrimony of the Cianos, which includes their Villa in Rome, has already been confiscated.

Further investigations regarding the wealth of both Count Ciano and his wife are being rapidly conducted throughout the whole of Italy, because they had spread their capital throughout the whole country", the report added.—Reuter.
